

Say It With Symbols

Every country has an emblem - an official picture that tells what the country stands for. Look at the emblems of the United States and of Israel, then design your own emblem showing ideas that the two countries share.

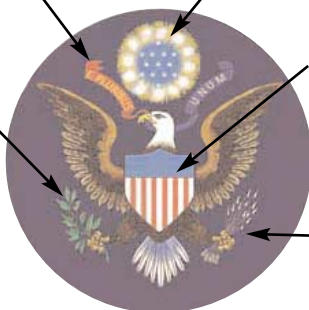

Menorah, for continuity

Olive Branches for peace

"Israel," in Hebrew

MOTTO: "Out of many, one," in Latin

Stars in the shape of a hexagram (☆), uniting God above and the earth below.

Olive branch for peace, in eagle's right talon to show that the United States wants peace. Eagle's head also faces towards the olive branch.

Stripes for the 13 original states and blue for the congress which unites them.

Arrows, to show that the United States is strong in peace or in war.

These symbols can help you get started with your own emblem design:
